outside world. She has drive second to none and is extremely versatile, and capable of exceeding in many directions in her life. If you asked her to juggle twenty balls she would juggle twenty five. With all said and done, the keywords here are skill, victory and considerable strength. Her willpower can also be her enemy, turning her forceful nature into stubbornness which in return brings out her temper. Her karmic energy is to learn to do things with a balance and not to push herself to the point of nervous exhaustion. Most importantly she must learn to be tolerant and to be clear in her thinking rather than just emotional. In doing this, happiness will be hers both emotionally and spiritually.

What can we expect for Amanda in the next coming months?

Born in the year of the pig she is devoted, kind and honest. She has an open and caring nature which makes her reliable and dependable to her friends; she will forgive and forget easily. This does not make her dull. Far from it, the Pig is sociable and fun loving and likes to put a party together, entertainment is her mastership. Although her peaceful and optimistic nature is frequently seen as a weakness, you can rest assured there is steel underneath that soft appearance. We know her in Britain and we will soon be hearing words about America. There is a great opportunity coming up for her to appear in a comedy. She will also be given scripts for the theatre, she may want to take her acting career to a much deeper level, but she will struggle to do this. There may be a few disappointments which may seem like too many for her, there will be many obstacles that she will have to overcome on her path. It is like following the yellow brick road; her negative thinking is like mastering the wicked witch. When she overcomes this she is sure to meet her fairy god mother. There is going to be great soul testing for her and there will also be a need for her to master her spiritual beliefs. She may even take up a psychic consultant to guide her through some life changing decisions.

Mind, Body & Soul

Her serious side will cause a drive for success in business and in theatre. Because she does not like to be kept waiting, her anxious behaviour will take its toll on her health. This can be seen coming out in colds and in tension around the shoulders. There will be more treatments or beauty changes to her face. Age is something of a concern for this lady and no matter how attractive she may appear to the public eye she is always conscious of how she is perceived. In knowing this, I do state however, that she will become much more laid back as the contracts come flowing in.

What can we expect for romance?

We can expect passion, passion, passion and talks of having more children. She will be looking for a beautiful pad in the UK and abroad where more speculation and gossip will be exposed when another love rival will show interest in her other half.
